

Savin Kuk Peak is one of the easily approachable peaks. It is easily noticeable from the shores of Black Lake, from where its north rock face is visible as well. At the same time it is the first peak in the range spreading to the south-west and then to the west. The rocks lower down to Velika Karlica. Those have a height up to 300m and are rather loose. The north rock face towers above Velika Karlica, at its very beginning. It is easily accessible along the trail from Black Lake. The left section of the rock is somewhat lower, the right one is higher, around 300 m. There are some 30 ascended routes on these rock faces.
